

Consistency is King

Healthcare

Situation

Our customer – a medical products supplier – had rigorous quality control requirements. Their current supplier could not meet those specifications on a consistent basis.

Solution

Houston Poly engaged the customer to better understand the true tolerances involved. With this knowledge, we could develop and supply a custom product that would meet the requirements in each shipment.

Results

1. The customer experienced far fewer bag failures which increased their production line efficiency, lowered costs, and improved overall quality.
